

OVERVIEW

Part of this course will involve developing and tracking in writing your own relationship to place. To this end, you will each receive a small notebook for field observations. The notebook is a gift. In exchange, we ask you to commit to (at least) one walk a week, technology free, for 20 minutes or more. Take your notebook on your walk and make notes of the thoughts and observations that happen as you walk. Your field notebook may be filled with words or sketches, phrases or sentences, even leaves or plants collected on your walk. By the end of the second unit you should have completed entries for seven walks. We will circulate your notebook in class twice during the semester.
